

ISASI REACHOUT 38 REPORT DARWIN AUSTRALIA 25 to 28 October 2011

New ground was broken down under when Reachout 38 was held in Darwin, Australia between 25th and 28th October 2010. This 'Outback' environment was significant in that it was well away from the beaten track and in keeping with the Reachout philosophy of taking the training to areas that would otherwise have not been available to many attendees.

Twenty delegates represented the breadth of the industry in the Northern Territory.

Active participation from Peter Renshaw and Mal Christie of the Australian Transport Safety Bureau again delivered valuable sessions in the role of human factors awareness in safety and investigation. The national regulator CASA was also well represented through sponsorship and support from specialist personnel including Glenn Jones. Generous sponsorship from Cobham Aviation also enabled the participation of ISASI Vice President Paul Mayes for the entire program.

ASASI volunteers included Australian Society President, Lindsay Naylor, Rick Sellers of Convergent Safety and John Guselli of JCG Aviation Services.

Analysis of the seminar feedback revealed a high degree of satisfaction from participants across the board. Principal to this feedback was the fact that this type of training is both necessary and well regarded in the more remote areas of Australia.
